

If water is so important, does everyone in the world have water?

785 million

People don't have access to water

How does this impact the people that doesn't have water?